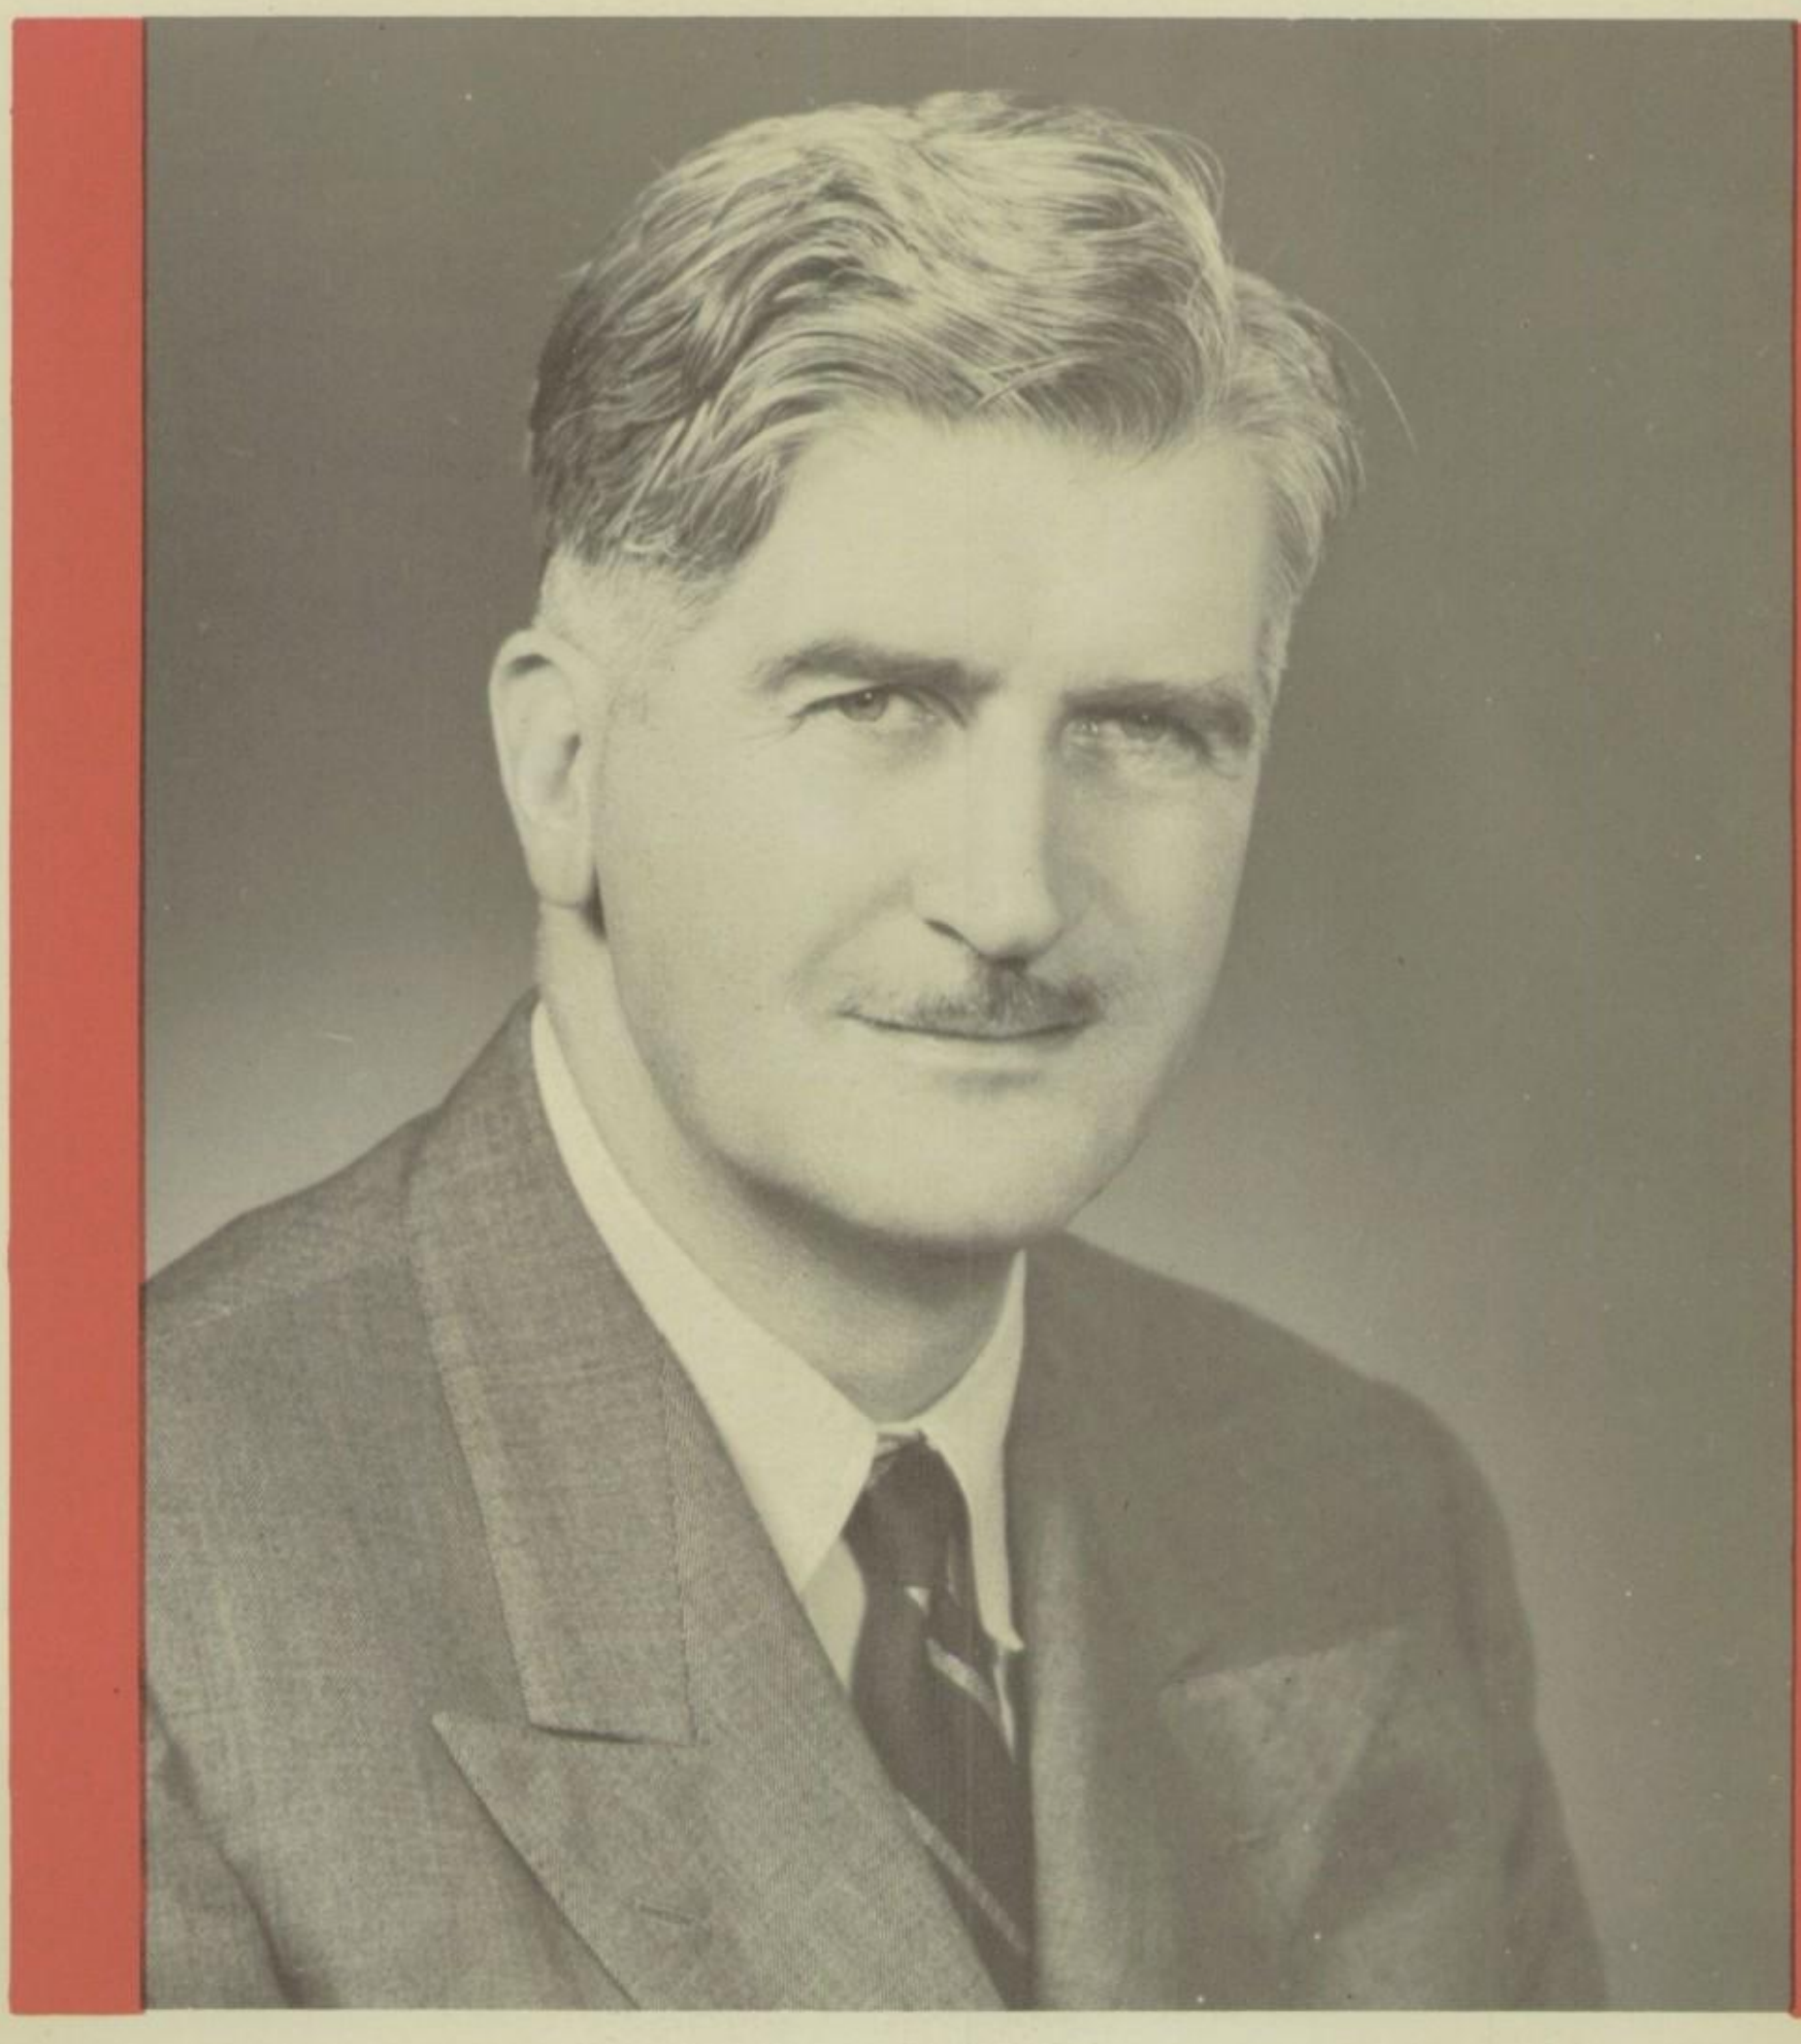
HOLYOKE COLLEGE

SOUTH HADLEY, MASSACHUSETTS



dedication

When there come to a college campus men of vision and imagination, their personality and their work make an impression which is not easily erased. Mr. Denis Johnston, through his direction of dramatics, his lectures, his guidance of the radio studio and his classes in playwriting, has had a profound influence on the Mount Holyoke community.
It is with respect and admiration that we dedicate LLAMARADA, 1952, to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell G. Ham

Mr. and Mrs. John Lobb

Mr. and Mrs. Denis Johnston

Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Holmes

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Adams

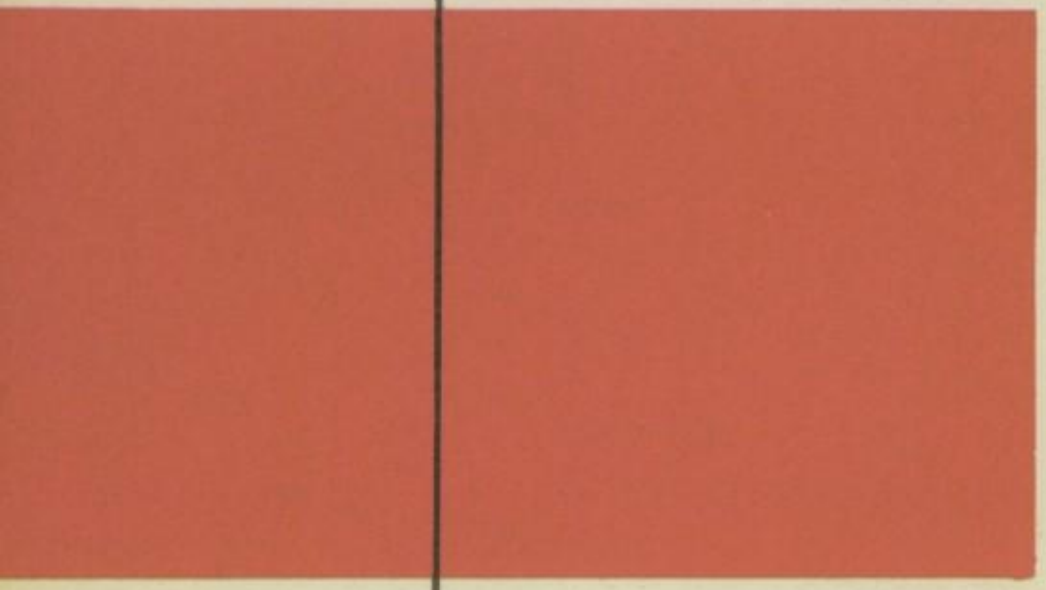
honoraries

For every class at Mount Holyoke there are certain members of the faculty and administration who have a special importance. The members of the Class of 1952, in trying to find those whom they as a class wish especially to remember, have chosen the people on these pages, and pay tribute to all the members of faculty and administration by choosing these representative few as Honoraries.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Viereck

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Wanlass

Miss Mildred S. Howard



Here in LLAMARADA 1952 is the abstract of a college year. Of the year's pattern of activities the whole forms more than the sum of the parts. From modern art we have borrowed the terms constructivism for the whole pattern of organizations, non-objectivism for the activities whose only interest is in the moment; we have borrowed perspective for the concept of a widening world gained in the classroom, and futurism for the seniors. This is the abstract of the year and the pattern of LLAMARADA.

The two become one and the same in Rep Assembly where the student representatives, alert to campus opinion, govern themselves through individual action and numerous student committees which investigate campus problems. A vital part of any modern campus, SGA's efficiency and success are the pride of the college.

The Judicial Board stressed "Education for the Honor System" this year. A court for the interpretation and maintenance of the SGA rules, JB's aim is a campus community where equality and honor are valued as the basis for future good citizenship.

On their tours of the intercollegiate circuit, the energetic Debate Club members have successfully defended the Mount Holyoke point of view, never at a loss for words on universal topics both serious and humorous, political and social.

united world federalists

With factions throughout the entire world seeking a solution to the problems of world peace, the Mount Holyoke College campus shows, in the composite person of the United World Federalists, that it too has an active and interested element alert and wide-awake to international needs. In numerous meetings, both open and closed, the group discusses modern politics with an eye to the future and considers contemporary issues in the light of basic ideologies.

Officers: Norian, Foster, Schilthuis, Hamlin, president.

Officers: Phraner, Chapin, Rotheram, president; Einhorn.

international relations club

One strong link between the college's academic life and the outside world and its problems is the organization best known as IRC, which sponsors a full-time program designed to rescue the students from the menace of the legendary "ivory tower." An annual twenty-college conference on some current world problem gives everyone a chance to exchange ideas with visiting authorities and with students from other colleges, while regular current events discussions and the sponsorship of outstanding lecturers help to prepare its large campus membership for intelligent action in the world community of which they will soon be a part.

athletic association

A real interest in the health and pleasure of every girl at Mount Holyoke is the moving spirit behind the group which organizes extra-curricular sports. With Kendall Hall as headquarters, AA works to create clubs and tournaments for every interest from sailing to skating, and tennis to water-ballet, and manages class and house contests. The organization makes the most of a spacious country campus and truly, "Everybody belongs, and everybody benefits."

outing club

Everyone who loves the out-of-doors finds Outing Club the answer to such questions as How can I meet other people who like the wide-open spaces?, and Where can I go? This year our OC tripped to the Yale Engineers' Camp and climbed the range with Amherst. We in turn were paid visits by Dartmouth, Williams, and Wesleyan. I.O.C.A. sponsored an all-college trip to Lake George and the annual square dance there. As an additional activity, the club again saw to it that there were buses to carry us to Mount Greylock and the range on Mountain Day. Fireside sings, mountain climbing, square dances, nights at the cabin—with their own truck to get them there—are the kinds of activity which make Outing Club so popular.

There's a place for everyone in one or more of the four main fields included in Fellowship of Faiths—faith, interfaith education, worship, and social service. The three faith groups meet separately and also have monthly meetings together at which they share ideas on general religious topics.

The worship group conducts special services and evening chapels; nursery schools, YWCA groups, and Girl Scout troops all secure assistant leadership from those in the service group. We have good reason to be proud of the spirit found in the Fellowship of Faiths.

WMHC

November 4, 1951, marked the birth of our own campus radio station, WMHC. A reality, thanks to last year's Student Fund Bazaar, WMHC offers us a wide variety of programs including opera, campus and world news, and clean-your-room music, not to mention commentaries and skits. The two hour a day broadcasts, which originate from the radio studio in Mary E. Woolley Hall, are managed and directed by those students interested in different aspects of radio, with Mr. Johnston and Miss Shepardson acting as faculty advisers. At 820 on the radio dial, WMHC is the most recent manifestation of administrative and creative talent active on campus.

Staff: Lowenfield, manager.

Officers: Bell, Lennihan, Fogle, president; Stahl, Gowman.

dramatic club

Budding Thespians from all classes find a home in DC, whether it be covered with greasepaint or applying it, speaking the lines or prompting, wearing the costume or being on the committee that finds it. Besides sponsoring the Freshman Plays, DC presents as highlights of the year their fall and spring productions, performances which attract an audience from beyond the college community and include actors from neighboring colleges.

How's that again?

Try it this way.

music

Singing in the shower, singing in chapel, singing in the bus on the way to the train; we all sing, but those of us with something besides enthusiasm sing in the Glee Club. They carry our voices from Pratt to Town Hall, from chapel to a host of other colleges where the V8's sing for us at houseparties and proms.

For those who can make an instrument sing for them, the college orchestra, which includes townspeople as well as students, provides the opportunity for group performance under the direction of Mr. Holden.

friends of art

Though they focus on the gallery in Dwight Hall, the Friends of Art is an organization that includes the entire college and civic community. To acquaint as many as possible with the newest and best in artistic trends, they sponsor exhibitions and lectures in painting, architecture, design and sculpture, and lend pictures to students for their own rooms.

With a change in name, Tempo, the college literary magazine, heralds the new policy to be found in its pages. Now interested in all types of writing done on the campus, the quarterly began this year to print political and scientific articles and editorials pertinent to college life, reflecting the college's most progressive attitudes and ideas.

What gives a better general representative picture of our one, two, three or four years at Holyoke than our all-college yearbook? LLAMIE'S effects are felt by all . . . the freshmen's excitement at their first college weekend dance . . . sophomores and juniors rushing over town scouring up ads . . . the senior editorial staff tearing their hair over layouts and proofs . . . and then that memorable day in spring when the cry "LLAMIE'S out!" echoes over the campus, and studies are temporarily abandoned in favor of scanning OUR yearbook.

the news

Friday—5 PM—the NEWS is out. A week's work has been completed in the exciting and energy consuming business of informing the campus of coming events and past glories, new social notes, and class or exam schedules. Thursday noon lunches at the CI start the ball rolling toward the following Wednesday night news deadline and the Thursday night proofreading. Friday afternoon, circulators deliver and mail out the weekly issues.

More campus shots and cartoons were made possible this year by the co-operative renting of a photo-electric engraver by the NEWS and four other near-by college papers. Another new feature—the WMHC broadcasting schedule.

From toddling baby courses to confident seminars we pursue the academic. Whether our quest for knowledge finds us in Skinner, Clapp, Dwight, Shattuck or the physics building, we gather concepts there which will always enrich us, either in the pursuits of our daily work or simply the enjoyment of our leisure hours. Armed with test tube, paint brush, nursery school child or reserve book, we get our liberal education from a variety of sources in a variety of ways. But always, in the continuous attempt to maintain the balance between freedom and discipline, objectivity and subjectivity, theory and practice, we learn to appreciate people and what they think.

informality +

Just ask her what characterizes the Mount Holyoke education and you'll hear from the blue-jeaned girl "Informality!" Professors soon meet us on home ground when they come to Wednesday dinner in the dorms or we visit them in their friendly homes. Over the tea cup at the department teas we hear the scholars' opinion on soap-opera and Sartre, and armed with ball and bat we trudge off on Club picnics to compete with our professors for athletic honors—minor-league battles to be played off in the Faculty-Student ball game on May Day. Mr. Holmes' dog snoring through class and faculty children carousing at Nursery School are familiar to us all in flesh or fable. Show us the formality of our formal education!

Can this be he?

With the snows of January came new sights and sounds on campus. The faculty appeared in class with rehearsal bags under their eyes, paint under their fingernails, and secrets under their hats. That harried look-well-known-to-juniors was found behind the lecture desk. Strange hammerings, shoutings, and music were heard down Chapin way. Faculty Show was really in the air! After four years of anticipation the curtain finally went up on 1952's Odyssey. Under the supervision of Mrs. Saintonge and Mr. Johnston, Homer was seized and swung about in a jubilant arc. Staid and sober academicians turned into pigs, spooks, sirens and sword dancers, and laughed at themselves. We forgot the books as we watched their guardians parading about as Helen of Troy, Cyclops, and Pallas Athene, Greek gods and gobs led home to Ithaca by the heroic Odysseus of President Ham. The epic date of January 19 will be long remembered!

big and little sisters

One of the warmest and most rewarding relationships of all our four years—first being a little sister and then, surprisingly, having one of our own. Helping to smooth over rough spots during those first agonizing weeks, finding a box lunch on our beds on Junior Show night, tea in the bookshop on winter afternoons, leaving a candy bar for courage during the week of exams. A warm, gay, hand in hand friendship, and something always to be remembered.

class of '55 Every fall Holyoke is invaded with a battery of fresh, smiling faces. They cluster around a neat new bulletin board in P.O. There is the excitement of the dorm, where talk flows free and cookies from home disappear like magic, and the thrill of the choir's debut one Sunday evening. Yellow gym suits battle through icy blasts with tennis rackets under their arms. In the classroom things begin to correlate. And another class, the class of '55, becomes part of Holyoke.

High Noon—Doubled

On a cool clear day in early fall at one minute before 8:00 on the steps of Mead or out behind Mandelle we waited for the bells to strike eight times and then go on to toll out Mountain Day. Something went wrong with the bells this year, but we knew by the sky that the day had come to conquer the mountains (and valleys) and to leave us free to exercise (or relax) to our heart's content. Whether we walked one mile or eighteen, that sandwich tasted good. Once home we all had the same ambition—a good night's sleep.

about town

What would Mount Holyoke be like without South Hadley—with no place to go for that mid-morning cup of coffee or wool to finish Charlie's Christmas sock, no place to get our infinite supply of medicine or our loafers stitched together, no place to squander on clothes, mail our laundry cases, or buy food for dorm parties? How we'd miss the people who supply rooms for our dates and invite us to visit their churches and join their Memorial Day celebrations on the village green.

Officers: Gleason, De Mar, president; Lindberg, Fish, Baldridge, Wylie.

So here we are, the Class of '52. At the end of four wonderfully full years of living, working, playing together, we're ready to step into the world. Mortar boards perched precariously on our heads and diplomas clutched in our hands, we leave Mount Holyoke to help build the kind of world we want, to teach to others the values taught to us. We've met some wonderful people both in and out of classes and labs and learned much about the strength of wisdom and the integrity of man. As we go each of us is conscious of how much she has yet to learn, but of how firm a basis for living these last four years have provided.

hazing day

This is one day when the dignity of young womanhood suffers. Without warning the campus blossomed with Riff Raff one afternoon last fall, and the years before there were the Hot Rods, the Germs, and the deck of '52 cards. Both freshmen and seniors set out with the longest faces they could muster, but it was the muffled laughter that showed the real spirit of Hazing Day.

"Bigger and Better" was the name on the program that November night when the curtain went up on the Junior Show of '52. For weeks before there had been secret rehearsals in Chapin and whispers around campus, posters and hints and much guessing. Then as we streamed out of Chapel a few mornings before Show we found Mighty Mouse in flight from Clapp to the Library. The work, the late hours we kept, making up for rehearsal time, and the anxiety that was in our mind in those few minutes before Fraternity Man and Junior marched across the stage were all forgotten in the fun of knocking flats together and plastering make-up on a host of savages and harem girls and the sound of the applause that meant only one thing—"Bigger and Better" was a success.

A bright new spirit falls on Holyoke with the first snow. Quietly and softly in the last two hectic weeks before vacation Christmas comes to us. It begins when we do some shopping or write out cards. Then one night the tree sparkles in the dorm. The sophomores carol in the corridors, and after the Glee Club concert the college Christmas tree shines out beside the chapel. The Dance Club gives its program and Holly Hop comes again. Then our early Christmastime gives way to the long-awaited vacation.

1954 has already gained the reputation of being a class with a spirit that has made soph slump an archaic expression. Along with an impressive record of successes, highlighted by Song Skit and Soph Hop, the class has shown how to get the most out of Mount Holyoke College with a smooth balance of the academic, social and extra-curricular. Now, as in the past years, the scarlet gym-suit is as much in evidence as ever as Pegasus and '54 take part in campus activity.

With the curtain going up on "Pursue Me, Priscilla" the Class of '53 heaved a sigh of relief. Junior year, full of perpetual excitement, had seemed so far away before.

Junior Prom

If it's spring, if it's junior year, then it's time for the fanciest dance of them all, for Junior Prom. A year that begins with Show could hardly end with less than a weekend that has been anticipated for at least three years. It begins on a Friday evening in May, a warm clear night when the dates begin to arrive, filling the quiet campus with their cars and the CI with couples laughing and talking. Saturday brings hiking and canoeing and picnics on Mount Tom, a gala dinner with a gay party, and the dance itself, a dream of sea-shells and shifting lights and music drifting across the floor and out onto the cool gallery. The evening may end at two but Prom lasts until the News has accounted for every new pin and recent engagement.

may day

May Day brings a festival on one of the loveliest of spring weekends, the weekend when we honor our parents, inviting them to share with us the smell of spring and the new green leaves, the garden in all its glory of spring flowers. The colorful pageant of the dance celebrating the coronation of the May Queen and her court is followed by canoe races on Upper Lake. Meanwhile the Student Fund Committee remembers the "chem. building" with Tag Day, and the halls hold open house, serving tea in the afternoon to friends and faculty. In the evening the Dramatic Club crowns a busy day and a busier season with their spring production. All this is somehow a foretaste of graduation time. These are the rites of spring for Holyoke.

Commencement is a beginning as well as an end. After the rush of studying for majors and a last relaxing week with friends of four years standing, Commencement weekend spins round a whirlwind of laurel chains, step-singing, and presidential teas. NEW YORK • 73 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON 8, MASS. • PROVIDENCE

"Our Budway" (Murray Court) is a lane, at heart,
we think,
With big trees rising where the towers are . . .
A state of mind, and what's in printer's ink
Keeps it apart from other lanes afar
From little rural roads we used to love,
With running brooks instead of walls along
The woodblocked route, and fleecy clouds above . . .
But where it's just as easy to go wrong.
It doesn't matter much which lane you take,
Unless you two can bear the sun and rain,
And smile together when your hearts both ache
Because of dreams you had that were in vain.
"Big Broadway" offers surcease at its bars . . .
"Our Budway" has the wind, the moon, and stars.
This old-time bar's heard tales of many wars
Spun by Marines, and Army men and Tars,
(The things they never told their pas and mas.)

BINDING

"COORDINATION" . . . a word that can mean a lot to you, even more than it does to us. It embodies a principle upon which our success depends. It means the proper economy of money, materials, and time, but always bearing in mind the kind of a yearbook you wish to have produced and of which you will be proud. BJH&S learned to appreciate that principle a long time ago. It is for this reason that we have consistently advocated the coordination of all factors of yearbook production. We are indeed glad to have been selected to produce this year's book.
